The Federal Housing Administration's (FHA) new "Back to Work" mortgage lending program seeks to help borrowers have lost their home through financial hardship or extenuating economic circumstances. For those who have suffered a significant reduction in income due to unemployment and/or other economic hardship circumstances, such as foreclosure, bankruptcy, or short sale. This program shortens the "wait period" to as little as one year after a financial hardship or loss of your home through an extenuating economic event.
